OBJECTIVE

I am a first-year college student who is currently enrolled in the Mobile Application and Development program where I am currently learning how to code Java, HTML, CSS, SQL, JavaScript, and PHP.

EDUCATION

Mobile Application Development

Sep 2025-Present

I am currently taking Mobile Application Development, which is a course that will set you up, so you are able to make mobile apps for either android or even IOS. As a new student starting at the end of last year, I have learned a variety of different programming languages. These languages include Java, HTML, CSS, and SQL. But since I am a newer student, I am still not as well versed in coding as someone who is in their third year.

EXPERIENCE

Volunteer | WFCU Center

Dec 2022-2023

Greeted a variety of people entering the building and offered them to donate money for my high school in order to fund money for school teams as well as extracurricular activities that happen in the school like talent shows and expo events where a variety of elementary schools can attend and experience the technical things that the high school offered.

Volunteer | Catholic Central High-school

2022-2025

I had the amazing opportunity to not only run and operate a CNC machine and robotic arm but also display CAD and CAM to a variety of elementary students and break down how they run as well as how I created the different projects as well.

Volunteer | Lawn Care

Provided my service to a variety of different homes where I offered to cut their grass during hot days so that they can
